SANTA CLAUS COMES TO HOLY FAMILY PARISH KIDDIES

Excellent Entertainment Is Presented Under Auspices Knights of Columbus

A Santa Claus by the name of Mike Monohan was the principal figure last night in Central Hall, 111 East Broadway, when a Christmas entertainment for the benefit of the "kiddies" of the Holy Family parish was presented by the Knights of Columbus.

Early in the evening the youngsters began to arrive, each group bringing a mother or father. Soon the hall was filled with little folks and some adults. Eagerly they admired the large illuminated Christmas tree at the front of the room.

After the entertainment features on the program were over, there was a terrific stamping on the floor just outside the door. Those, who were initiated in such matters, knew that it was Mr. Claus trying to kick the snow off his boots.

Then there was a pounding at the door as though there might be some doubt about his getting in. There wasn't. About 150 "kids" were there to see that Kris Kringle received fair play. With three hops he was in the middle of the room. About 300 eyes opened as wide as saucers—depending, of course, on the size of the saucers.

Cold at North Pole

"Where's John Dunn," he bellowed good naturedly. "I always have some man who knows all the children tell me whether they have been good or bad."

While the youngsters were laughing because Mr. Claus had just lost part of his whiskers, Mr. Dunn found his way to the front of the room and assured Mr. Kringle that the children had been "pretty good," had said their prayers "nearly" every night and had obeyed their parents splendidly—especially for the past week.

Oh yes, beforehand, Santa Claus had explained how cold it was at the north pole and how it was necessary to live in igloos. He declared that he was mighty glad to get to a nice

Holidays and Rain Cause Building to Temporarily Cease

Building has taken a slump!

Don't get excited—it's only temporary.

W. J. McIntyre, chief clerk in the building department of the city hall, stated this morning that all the contractors seemed to have their minds on Christmas and the holidays—and the rain—and that he did not anticipate many requests for building permits before the first of next year. He has noticed that people do not like to do anything avoidable at the end of a week, a month or a year. He says that the first day of the week, the first few days of a month are always best. He expects a rush of applicants for permits immediately after New Year's.

Meanwhile, $343,115 worth of building has been done so far in December and the total for the year amounts to $4,940,856. The following new permits are on file:

T. J. Snyder, auto shop, 116 North Maryland avenue	$4,000
Paul Hill, garage, 920 East Harvard street	150
Samuel Scholthhauer, garage, 1308 East California avenue	100
Dr. C. A. Webb, 4 rooms and garage, 1234 Orange Grove avenue	2,000
Mrs. Nellie Hill, 5 rooms and garage, 1935 East Vassar street	2,500

Charles Houck, by Quick Action, Puts Out Fire in Auto

Pyrene squirted into the carburetor of his Oakland about 10:45 this morning by Charles Houck of The Sport Shop, 146 South Brand boulevard, extinguished flames which were threatening to envelope the entire machine.

Mr. Houck was about to start the automobile, which was parked at the curb in front of the establishment recently opened by himself and Charles Dosta. The engine backfired and soon the front of the machine was on fire. Rain, which began to fall at this time, also drenched the flames. A hurried trip by the fire department proved unnecessary.

Meeting of Bowling League Postponed

The meeting of the members of the recently completed Elks' House Bowling league, which was scheduled to have taken place last night at the club alleys, was indefinitely postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather. This action was taken in consideration of the bowlers who are out-of-town members. The gathering will probably be held next week.

This city shows additions of 586 subscribers so far this year, or a total of 3,487.

This is an increase of 20.20 per cent. Burbank and Van Nuys' growth are practically the same and they are a part of the local field managed by Fred Deal of this city.

Local People Hear Addresses Given By Michigan U's Head

L. T. Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Pearce and Miss Dorothy Poppy were Glendale people who had the pleasure of attending the banquet and reception that was held Tuesday night at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles in honor of Dr. M. L. Burton, president of the Michigan State university. Dr. Burton is one of the youngest and most brilliant men among the heads of the state universities of this country and receives a salary of $25,000 a year. He is one of the many interesting speakers who will address the teachers at the Institute sessions that are being held in Los Angeles this week.

During a very interesting address that Dr. Burton was delivering at the session at the Bible Institute Wednesday morning, he paused and pointing his finger at a man in the audience, said:

"There is a man whom I knew at Yale."

The subject of this remark was Dr. C. N. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church in Glendale. They were not members of the same class, but attended Yale at the same time and were later associated in a charge together at Brooklyn.

Dr. Burton was president of Minnesota university prior to accepting the chair at Michigan. One table at the banquet was reserved for Minnesota alumni; among these was Mr Rowley.

Primary Class Has Jolly Holiday Party and Christmas Tree

The members of the primary class of the Sunday school at the First Christian church were entertained Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4 o'clock at a very pretty Christmas party, at the Sunday school rooms in the church bungalow. The children were made happy with a gaily-decorated Christmas tree, and little holly boxes of candy were distributed. They played games, gave recitations and had a very merry afternoon. Refreshments of chocolate and specially designed animal cookies were served by the hostesses, their class teachers, Miss Avis Thompson and Miss Laura Wilford Brown. The primary class has an enrollment of sixty and an average attendance of forty-five.

Mr. Williams, who is a prominent lumber merchant of the Illinois city, is visiting here on an "inspection tour" with the possible intention of permanently living in Glendale within the near future. In the event that he selects a home in this city he will be joined by his wife and family.

The bride has resided in Glendale for two years until recently, when she went to Medford for a few weeks and returned here for the wedding. Mr. Polster is an employe of Pierson Hanning, barber, and in his nine years' residence in Glendale has made a large circle of friends. He went overseas with the 43rd field artillery.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 22.—A trail leading from Seattle to San Bernardino and San Francisco was uncovered today when police in those cities were asked to apprehend the murderer of Ferdinand Hochbrunn, 72, wealthy real estate owner, who was found dead in his home here late yesterday by a plumber. A burst water pipe in the house occupied by Hochbrunn led to the discovery of the body when a plumber, sent upstairs by the first floor occupants, failed to find a person to charge the plumbing bill to. Looking into one of the rooms, the plumber was startled by the body, which, according to Coroner W. H. Corson, had been decomposing for at least two months. A bullet through the base of the brain ended his life, it is believed. Another "Hochbrunn," however, is masquerading in California as the wealthy real estate man and is directing that rental money be sent him at the Spaulding hotel, 240 O'Farrell street, San Francisco.

REPORT UPON FLOOD CONTROL IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

City Given Full Authority to Remove Verdugo Wash Danger, Is Announced

LOCAL RAINFALL FIGURES
By T. W. PRESTON

For the 24 hours	.47
Season Total	11.03
Last Year	2.81

With more rain in sight, Glendale is watchfully waiting to see whether the oversoaked subsoil will carry off further flood waters. This morning Christmas shopping crowds were drenched by a short shower.

Both sides of the Los Feliz road bridge between here and Hollywood have now been washed away and the Pacific Electric trestle at Ivanhoe still is considered unsafe. Passengers are forced to walk through the rain and mud in order to get in and out of Los Angeles.

The flood control committee of the Chamber of Commerce is meeting this afternoon to hear the report of Peter L. Ferry that J. W. Reagan, engineer of the county flood control work, has given the city authority to do anything necessary to remove the peril of Verdugo wash. The expense will be stood by the fund created by special taxes.

To Present Program

The committee will discuss permanent work and present a program to Mr. Reagan for action in order that there will be no further doubt about the wash overflowing. No damage was done this storm, although a record rainfall is reported by H. E. Bartlett, local observer.

Plasterers, roofers and builders are busy today depairing the damage done by the heavy downpour. Crews are working on the city's streets, clearing away mud and filling chuck holes in the oil pavements. Actual damage in Glendale cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, it being spread over such a large number of small losses and inconveniences.

Five Hundred Will Attend Dinner Given By Salvation Army

Five hundred unemployed people in Los Angeles will be given a Christmas dinner at the Salvation Army hall, 127 Wilmington street, according to an announcement this morning by Envoy Fred Giles. He stated that a great many Christmas baskets were being distributed in the district and that the number probably would run into four figures.

Although the campaign in Glendale has fallen $400 short of the fixed quota of $2400, Mr. Giles feels well pleased with the generosity of local citizens. He still has a few more calls to make in the vicinity and hopes to reduce the deficit. R. F. Kitterman, cashier of the First National Bank of Glendale, is treasurer of the campaign and is still receiving donations.

Mr. Giles asserted that homes having clothing which they wish to donate to the needy should telephone or write to the Salvation Army Hall, 127 Wilmington street, in order that one of the wagons, which leaves there every Friday for Glendale, might call for it.

"There are now considerably over 100 in the "Ten Dollars and Over Club," declared Mr. Giles. "We only expected to enroll a hundred."

The following new members have joined since the last list was published: Glendale Mill Company, 226 Geneva street; Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company, 460 Los Feliz road; Tropico Potteries, 611 West Los Feliz road; Dr. A. M. Duncan, 1607 South San Fernando road; Glendale Groceteria, 116 North Brand boulevard; F. B. Winslow, 1493 Boynton street; C. R. Soults, Eagle Rock; Frank Proctor, 1135 East Wilson avenue.

NEW STORM RECORD FOR GLENDALE LOOMS; NEARS MARK SET JANUARY, 1916

If it doesn't stop raining a new storm record will be written for Glendale.

Comparing yesterday's figures with those of other years, one will find, according to the book kept at the H. E. Bartlett home, 417 West Myrtle, that the storm commencing January 15, 1916, poured out 9.90 inches into this section of the San Fernando valley.

The present rains have totaled only 8.71 so far, with 9.70 for the season, and 2.81 at the same time last year.

The big storm of 1914, that swept away practically all of the long spans of bridges in Southern California, was a combination of storms.

In January the skies unloosed 6.8 inches and before that was absorbed the February storm let 9.20 inches of rainfall drop into the insufficient bucket.

Half an hour before death Colonel Watterson spoke to his wife, his son, Henry L. Watterson, Jr., and his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Miller, who were at his bedside.

Funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is probable the body will be sent to Colonel Watterson's former home, "Mansfield," at Jeffersontown, Ky.

FURTHER DAMAGE BY FLOODS AVERTED DESPITE RAINS

Traffic Conditions Improving in Southland; Record Mark of Storm 22.84 Inches

Weather: Rain at intervals tonight and probably Friday.

Flood conditions in Southern California, which were serious yesterday, were greatly improved today as a result of eighteen hours of clear skies after the steady downpour that began Saturday night. There was a heavy shower at Los Angeles and in the immediate vicinity this morning, but it was believed the high waters which had considerably receded would not be materially affected.

Traffic conditions on southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe railroad systems, as well as on the Pacific Electric interurban lines, were reported considerably improved, with the expectation that they will be about normal tomorrow.

Large gangs of track and bridge workers have been busy in many sections for the last forty-eight hours, repairing the heavy damage from the raging waters that swept in torrents from the mountains.

Devil's Gate Dam Opened

In order to relieve the great wall of water impounded against the new Devil's Gate dam, the immense gates were lifted and the lake lowered six inches. The gates worked perfectly, each gate discharging 28,000 gallons a second.

When the residents of the vicinity heard the booming of the rushing water they were alarmed for a few minutes, believing the huge dam had given way.

The record rainfall for any point in the southland during the storm was at Squirrel Inn at the crest of the San Bernardino mountains where 22.84 inches fell. The fall at Mount Wilson was 21.58 inches.

Fifteen young men attending the University of Southern California, who, with Prof. J. G. Hill, were caught in the storm on Mount Baldy were reported safe today.

Marooned; In No Danger

Former Congressman and Mrs. Charles H. Randall, with Clyde Cassels, Mr. Randall's son-in-law are marooned on an island in the upper Arroyo Seco by the high water.

Friends who talked with them, stated today that the party is amply supplied with food and in no danger.

In order to relieve the terrific pressure of flood waters in the Los Angeles river, and to prevent damage which would have amounted to thousands of dollars, dynamite was used in two instances yesterday afternoon.

One hundred pounds of the explosive was used to break a jam of debris under the Pacific Electric bridge at Long Beach.

The second place where dynamite was used was on the highway bridge over the Los Angeles river, on the Long Beach boulevard.

21 Acre Luken's Site, Looking Southeast—1000 Feet on Broadway—1000 Feet on Verdugo Road—200 Feet (about) on Colorado Street

Voters of the Glendale Union High School District:

One and a half years ago the citizens of the High School District voted to move the High School from the present insufficient grounds. Though temporary bungalows were added to the plant, it has become an anxious problem to care for the rapid inflow of students as our population grows by leaps and bounds. Hence the trustees have pledged themselves to select whichever of two suburban sites (Luken's and Grey Tracts) receives the larger vote on December 29.

A personal visit to the sites will convince you that the cause of education and civic betterment will best be advanced if you give your vote and influence to the Luken's site. Note carefully these fifteen reasons:

1—More central geographically for city and district.
2—More central for population of city and district.
3—More beautifully situated.
4—Better located for street car and bus lines.
5—Three fine thoroughfares—Broadway, Colorado, and Verdugo Road.
6—Safer from storm water.
7—Less exposed to wind storms.
8—Not subjected to noise and jar of railroad trains.
9—Not to be surrounded by industrial district conditions.
10—Richer in soil.
11—Water supply of twenty-five miners' inches.
12—Over $12,000 of fine street work done.
13—Contains about three acres more land than other site.
14—Option on it only $77,500 as against $75,000 for other site.
15—Unanimous choice of Glendale Chamber of Commerce Committee of Nine.

Let the choice of these nine practical, far-seeing citizens be yours also. Thursday, December 29, between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. vote for the bonds and for the logical Luken's site.

Glendale Welfare Association Committee.

RESERVATIONS FOR REALTY DEALERS' MEETING START

Practically Every Part of the State to Be Represented at January Gathering

OAKLAND, Dec. 22.—Real estate dealers from practically every county in California are planning to attend the California real estate convention to be held at the Hotel Oakland, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 19-21, 1922.

Reservations are already beginning to come in from realtors who plan to spend the entire week-end in the East Bay district.

This was the statement today of Fred E. Reed, president of the California Real Estate association, based upon reports brought to the main office by the state secretary, Glenn D. Willaman, who has recently completed an automobile tour of 1800 miles, visiting twenty real estate boards in cities and counties down state.

There are now fifty-six real estate boards in California, an increase of 100 per cent since the first of last June. Ten new boards were reported by the secretary as a result of his trip, including Merced, Dinuba, Whittier, Alhambra, Anaheim, El Centro, Calexico, Hermosa Beach, Van Nuys and Paso Robles.

Alameda, San Leandro, Turlock, Manteca, Selma, Ventura, Orange, San Luis Obispo, Salinas, and Santa Maria will be organized in the near future. There are now real estate boards in cities representing more than two-thirds of California's 4,000,000 population.

Governor W. D. Stephens will be invited to speak on the land settlement for ex-soldiers.

Santa Claus Pays Visit to Children of Catholic Parish

warm pleasant place like Glendale. Some one immediately thought that he should be invited to join the Chamber of Commerce and given some boosters' literature to distribute on the rest of his route.

Receives Fine Doll

Then coupons were distributed to all the little girls and a magnificent doll was given to Virginia Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wells. The little girl was delighted and her daddy, who resides at Thornycroft, was pleased, also.

The little boy who had the first two numbers drawn from the hat immediately afterwards could not be located and it was necessary to make a third drawing. This time a large set of Meccanno was given to "Bobby" McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McGuire, 241 North Cedar street. He was both surprised and overjoyed.

Under the plea that he had to get down to Mexico at once and had a lot of territory to cover before Christmas, Santa Claus begged to be excused and departed as soon as assistants had started to distribute the individual boxes of candy.

Henry M. Doll, 727 South Louise street, presided at the program.

"We are glad indeed that you have honored us with your presence," he said. "Glad to see so many fathers and mothers here and so many big brothers and sisters. It is in reality a night for the children and it is a duty of grown folks to make that period in their lives one to which they may look back upon in years to come with pleasure."

"Holy Night" was then sung by Harry Girard, who accompanied himself upon the piano.

The Rev. Father James S. O'Neill was called upon for a few remarks. He declared that the hymn "Holy Night" expressed the peaceful spirit of Christmas and that he hoped this spirit of good will and fellowship would prevail not only during the holidays but also during the full fifty-two weeks of 1922. He concluded by thanking the Knights of Columbus for their interest in the children.

Later in the evening Father O'Neill called attention to the fact that there had been 145 children in Sunday school last Sunday. He said that the parish wanted a sisters' school on the lot across the street from the church on Louise street and intended to make a start for its fund by surplus profits from the recitals to be given in the near future.

As part of the entertainment, Peggy Brennan and Alice Brennan, daughters of Michael J. Brennan, 519 North Central avenue, both played piano solos and little Geraldine Kelliher, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Kelliher interpreted a dance. The entire audience sang Adeste Fidelis.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

'Friend to Hoboes' Is Mysteriously Killed

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22.—With the head almost severed, the body of John Arthur O'Connor, 55, who was well known as the "friend to hoboes," was found crammed into a potato bin at his small cabin on Hayden island, north of this city. A bloody butcher knife was found with the almost dismembered body. It is believed to have completed the murder, which was first started with an axe, which was also found, covered with blood, in O'Connor's cabin.

The murderer is believed to have been an unidentified vagabond who O'Connor befriended a few days ago. It was his custom to give shelter and feed to tramps whenever possible, which won for him the title "friend of hoboes."

SOME SENATORS SAY WATSON CHARGES SUBSTANTIATED

Wholesale Execution of U. S. Soldiers True? More Testimony Necessary, Claim

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22.—Senator "Tom" Watson has laid enough testimony before the Senate committee investigating his charges of wholesale execution of American soldiers in France to warrant a most thorough and sweeping probe of every phase of the charges.

This it was learned, is the point of view of members of the committee which on successive days has heard from the lips of "eye witnesses" tales of hangings and other killings in the American Expeditionary forces.

"The investigation has only begun; we have an open mind; we want to learn all the truth from witnesses for both sides," said Senator Shields, Democrat, of Tennessee.

Other members of the committee made it plain that they believed Watson's charges had not been proven conclusively and that additional testimony would be in order.

Ready to Oppose Anyone

If everybody else is agreed on a question, then Senator Tom Watson will oppose it. That is the consensus of opinion among national legislators who have watched this fiery Georgian during nearly a year of tumultuous conduct, with indications that he will continue to keep the upper house in an uproar throughout the five years he still has to serve.

Senator Watson was elected a member of Congress in 1890 on the wave of Populist sentiment, serving one term. In 1896 he was nominated for the vice-presidency by the St. Louis Populist convention, which indorsed Bryan for the presidential nomination.

Whenever Watson gets up to speak on the floor of the Senate something is sure to happen. He has found that these speeches get his name in the newspapers, and he dislikes this not at all.

Watson's great ambition seems to be that of an anti. He does not confine himself to personalities, and woe betide the unfortunate man crossing his path. He will threaten a fist fight, a duel or else a speech.

Three-cornered Fight

His election to the Senate followed a three-cornered fight in his own state for the Democratic nomination in which he stood as the anti-Wilson, anti-League of Nations and anti-war measures candidate. He freely admits and is proud of the fact that his publications opposed the draft law, the espionage act and other war measures. Throughout the period of America's participation in the war these publications railed at the government, attacked the army and the draft law and ever since have attempted to make it appear that this government did wrong in entering the war.

Met outside the Senate chamber, Senator Watson is personally a charming man. He has an engaging smile and talks entertainingly in a mild manner. Even when he rises to his feet to begin a speech there is no suggestion of the uproar that he probably will raise before he is through. He begins his speech in a well-modulated voice and then works up nearly to the point of frenzy when some one doubts the wisdom of his opinions.

Airedale on Trial for Catslaughter; Master Faces Fine

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—A crowd even larger than that which was present at the Arbuckle trial assembled when Dormie, Airdale, went on trial before Police Judge Jacks on a charge of catslaughter. The first task undertaken was the selection of a jury.

Dormie came into court with his master, Eaton McMillan. It was a serious matter for both because conviction carried a probable death sentence for Dormie and a possible fine of $500 or six months' imprisonment for the master.

Mrs. Marjorie Ingals, owner of Sunbeam, fashionable Persian cat, was the complaining witness. In addition to the death of Sunbeam, the state expected to fasten on Dormie the untimely ending of the lives of eight other cats.

Assistant District Attorney John Orcutt conducted the prosecution and Dormie was defended by Attorney James Brennan.

Dormie, resident of a fashionable district was not without friends. In the audience there were dog fanciers to see that "justice was done." And not a few defenders of the memory of Sunbeam were present to see that "justice prevailed."

Dog and cat fanciers were taboo on the jury, making its selection difficult.

Pan-American Meet Now Being Planned

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22.—A Pan-American Congress to be held either in Washington or in some South American country, probably Chile, began to loom on the international horizon today, as a natural follow to the present world conference meeting in Washington. It was learned officially that suggestions for holding such a meeting have already been made to officials of this government by a number of South American officials and that the United States is favorably disposed towards such a project after the Washington conference is out of the way.

New York Women Traffic 'Cops' Show to Big Advantage When Given Their First Trial

By LEO T. HEATLEY,
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK—Conceive of a cop wearing silk stockings and—yes—"Whatyoucallies"!

These are only a small though possibly important part of the new uniform worn by 2,500 policewomen, members of the reserve force who have been ordered to direct traffic in school streets here during the milk strike. While the regular police were guarding the milk the "irregulars" were guarding traffic. And did they guard it well? Oh, my dear!

Clothed with full authority—and a police whistle—the volunteers attacked their perilous duties. Some of them were mothers, with hearts as big as their waistlines; some were Young Things as slender as a hazel wand; some were bold and athletic, and some were subtle and synthetic. But they were all very much on the job, their police whistle the symbol of victory for femininity.

On the first rainy day after they were ordered on duty only a few of the ladies put in an appearance. Many went to work without reporting to the nearest police station, a mere matter of routine to which no self-respecting policewoman could be forced to submit if she felt otherwise. Some of the ladies lacked raincoats and, therefore, could hardly be expected to report for duty on a cold, drizzly day, when the nasty rain beat against one's back and sent a wintry chill down one's spine. Certainly not!

Lieutenant Emily Hess and Sergeant Annie Rady, trim, trig and pretty, did show up, however, bundled in heavy macintoshes and their nifty caps set on an angle calculated to lend that devil-may-care note to the ensemble. But Lieutenant Emily and Sergeant Annie did not stand in the middle of the intersecting streets, like the regular traffic cops. You see, the streets were muddy, and so they waited on the sidewalk until they saw a child needing assistance and then helped it across the street. Men are so illogical.

Police Department instructions to the policewomen were: "Don't let any roughneck driver try to drive over you. If the driver of any vehicle fails to obey orders take his number and turn it in to the police captain of your precinct. We'll attend to the rest of it. If you have any trouble blow three blasts on the whistle, and the nearest policeman on duty will hurry to your aid." They go on duty during three periods daily, from 8 until 9 o'clock in the morning; from 12 until 1 o'clock and from 3 to 3:30 in the afternoon.

Major Jean Barnes, commanding major, didn't get her breakfast until half-past eleven the first morning on duty, but that didn't worry her in the least.

The Manhattan and Bronx reserves wear blue, with "Alice blue" vests; fairly long skirts and no leggings. The Brooklyn and Queens contingent wear dark blue uniforms, much shorter skirts and puttees. And all—absolutely all—wear silk stockings, and "ribbed," my dear.

"We have no great difficulty with the truck drivers and chauffeurs, although their language is not always well chosen," explained one of the new policewomen. "We find that our greatest trouble is with the schoolboys, who appear to look upon us as a huge joke. I have had to ask several school teachers to chastise some of these boys on that account. But they will soon get used to seeing us guiding traffic, and the joke will be stale. We have taken up the police business in deadly earnest, and while our only weapon is a tin whistle, I don't think any traffic law evaders will trifle with our authority."

And not a single accident was reported.

Biblical Pageant Will Be Presented on Friday Night

"When the Star Shone" is the title of a Biblical pageant to be given Friday night commencing at 7:15 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Payne, 132 North Everett street, a cast of forty-three has been rehearsing for some time preparing this for presentation.

Miss Dorothy Peart, will take the part of Judith; Victor Colburn, the Rabbi; Edwin Murphy, the Rabbi's servant; Mrs. L. C. Leeds, the muse of prophecy; and Miss Alice Lookabaugh, the muse of history.

Incidental music will accompany the acting and there will be much choral music. Mrs. Leeds and Miss Lookabaugh will both sing solos.

The scene of the pageant is laid just outside the city of Jerusalem. The story concerns the journey of the three wise men to Bethlehem.

The entertainment will be prefaced by a concert of Christmas music by the Methodist orchestra led by C. K. Aston, 207 North Orange street.

Among those, who are in this orchestra are: Miss Lois Murphy, Roy Cunningham, Miss Mabel Cunningham, Miss Genevieve Mulligan, Miss Bertha Brown, Miss Leone Tercy, Elwood Ingledue, Verne Wilson, Miss Agnes Brown, Meryle Davis, Dr. P. O. Lucas, Roland Percy, Leslie Percy, Frank Prouty, Robert Burns, Cecil Percy, Fred Fisher, Frank Pierce, Roy Flint and H. E. Baines.

Movie Actress Says Husband Is Bigamist

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Mrs. William F. Mooney of Hollywood, known on the screen as Jean Riley, secured a warrant for the arrest of her husband on a charge of bigamy. She said she read in the papers of the marriage of Mooney under the name of Riley to Verna DeVocas, 17 year old department store clerk, who had been missing several days but who returned home, stating that she had been married to "Riley." The screen actress then went to police headquarters and made complaint against Mooney.

FIRE IS CAUSE OF BIG LOSS

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Dec. 22.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a hangar on the army flying field here and a Martin bombing plane. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Four other planes were dragged from the burning building and saved.

Family Secrets of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus to Be Told

Have you ever visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus at the North Pole?

Well, anyhow, some of the family secrets of the Claus family will be disclosed Friday night at the entertainment to be given in the auditorium of the Baptist church, in a holiday playlet entitled, "Christmas Spirit."

Hugh Freeman, an aviator, will bring G. A. Adams, an overworked postman to J. L. Gray and Mrs. M. L. Russell, who will take the parts of Mr. and Mrs. S. Claus. The scene will be shifted to the home of a poor family and then to the home of a rich family and Miss Vesta Marrow will be shown as the Christmas Spirit.

The program is under the auspices of the Sunday school. Choral music will be a part of the entertainment. Also, there will be orchestral music led by Forrest Jordan.

Mr. Kris Kringle will superintend the distribution of candies from the Christmas tree.

Better Pictures Plan of New Organization

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—In the hope of perfecting a higher quality of motion pictures and making them available to the theater-going public at lower prices of admission a new organization has been formed in Los Angeles by a number of motion picture producers, stars and directors called the "Independent Screen Artists' Guild."

The new association, it was announced today, has been formed along the lines of the medieval craftsmen guilds and proposes to establish a direct connection between the theater manager and star, thus eliminating what are described as "Wall street interests" which are said to have a "death grip" on the industry.

R. CROKER SERIOUSLY ILL

MUSKOGEE, Okla, Dec. 22.—Word reaching here from Pryor, Okla., today stated that Richard Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall in New York City, was seriously ill in Ireland and that Bruce Garrett, a prominent Pryor resident, had departed for that country. The cablegram announcing the illness, the report stated, was sent by Mrs. Beulah Edmondson Croker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Edmondson, of Pryor.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

Storm Causing Lots of Ants to Invade Homes in Glendale

Many Glendale people are having visitations from ants this Christmas season.

Seems that the ants, like the angle worms back east, get drowned out when it rains.

Then they hide under the houses, come upstairs to get into the sugar and anything else edible.

Druggists report the sale of lots of ant food.

And so we'll hear them
O'er and o'er—
The generation gone before
Our modern decadence deplore!

NEW YORK — The modern girl stands acquitted.

No less an authority than Rachel Crothers, playwright and author, extends her a clean bill of health as a person of good sense, a bully pal and the very highest type of femininity.

The modern girl, according to Miss Crothers, is far superior, in every feminine attribute, to her sisters of bygone days. Her advice to the girl of today is "uphold the best standards of 1921 young womanhood if you would be popular." While she does not give her unqualified approval to the "flapper," this eminent woman author includes this much abused young girl in her general designation of the modern girl.

"The girl of today deserves the centre of the stage from the standpoint of both progress and human interest," said Miss Crothers. "She is so honest, so sensible, so sane, and she understands what you are talking about. She has valuable opinions of her own on important subjects. If she does not understand you can explain, and she will grasp your meaning with certainty and speed.

"There were so many things the old-fashioned girl did not dare fathom. Society forbade her being human. She missed that beautiful freedom of living and of expression—the characteristic charm of the girl of today. There is nothing quite as magnetic as naturalness in a girl.

Natural Girl Popular

"Nine times out of ten the natural girl is abundantly popular. The tenth time happens to be a misfit, in which the unhappy possessor of a splendid courage of self-expression is handicapped by wrong instinct. Propensity for doing and saying the wrong thing in an obvious way is an inheritance with some of us.

"There are happier birthrights, however. For example, that strange, intangible, yet very real something which we call personal magnetism is positively innate. We either have it or we do not. It can never be acquired in the seed, though possession of the seed of it admits of propagation. We can become more magnetic by exercising and developing our gift.

"The old-fashioned girl had this birthright of magnetism. There was the most popular girl in the crowd in hoop skirt days as there is in short-skirt days. There was always the toast of the town—the belle of the ball.

"The difference is old-fashioned girls were compelled, by constricting bonds of convention, to suppress their effervescence, to subdue their originality and personality. They were popular as playmates, as sweethearts, as wives.

Today's Girl Different

"The miss of today is all of these and more—she is a companion. She may not show all the conventional deference once the prerogative of age, but she gives immeasurably more—cameraderie, the contagion of youth. Instead of shutting her elders out from the magic circle of her rainbow world she accepts them as a part of it. Her mother is her big sister. Her father is her escort, sharing her fun and frolic."

The lady who came into the spotlight of public favor via Bloomington, Ill., chatted a moment of the Big Sticks—advantages of the small town as a background to breadth of understanding and analysis. Then, quite suddenly, she returned to her girl subject.

"Just think," she enthused, "of the material with which the modern miss can work. She may have all the sweetness, the daintiness, the wholesomeness of her old-fashioned sister, but with the addition of the freedom of thinking, acting and being herself. She begins where the other stood half way along life's journey.

"To those addicted to pasts Miss Modern Maid may appear a bit crass at times. But better crass than cringing."

of this institution is of the same high character as our Service, and strictly in keeping with this beautiful Funeral Home and represents an investment of over $18,000.

Our Invalid Coach is the latest addition to the equipment, and has every refinement that modern ingenuity can suggest for the comfort of passengers—and, as one lady expressed it, "is a veritable palace on wheels."

Shantung Railway to Be Given to China

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22.—The Shantung railway, the disposition and control of which was one of the principal points of issue between China and Japan in the settlement of the Shantung question, will be returned to China in consideration of the payment of 53,000,000 gold marks, it was announced at Chinese delegation headquarters. This agreement was reached by the Chinese and Japanese delegates in a conference.

Aged Man is Fined for Forcible Kissing

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—They never get too old. James I. Duffin, 70, was fined $250 and given a suspended jail sentence for thrice kissing Mrs. Louise C. Busby one morning not long ago, the undesirable osculations occurring when the woman's husband was absent from home. Justice Jennings in imposing sentence remarked that his leniency was due to the septuagenarian's promise to return to the protection of his sister in Riverside county.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Within the last few days the question has been raised as to what is the correct Pacific Coast record for the four man, one mile relay. Stanford adherents make the claim that in 1914 their relay team set a mark of 3:21 3-5, while others contend the mark is one second worse. Among alumni of Stanford and California who were in college at that time a small-sized war of debate has been taking place and the matter has been referred to the writer.

In the official program of the California vs. Stanford dual track meet last April, Stanford was credited with holding the record with 3:22 3-5. As a matter of fact if that was the record for the Stanford-California series, it was also the record for the Pacific coast, but twice later in the same year the record was broken. On May 29, 1914, the Washington State college team at Pullman, Wash., won the relay in 3.22, thus eliminating the Stanford mark as a coast record, and on September 19, 1914, the University of California team won the Pacific Association A. A. U. branch relay, defeating the Caledonian club in 3:21 2-5.

Back in 1909, April 17 to be correct, Stanford relay men defeated California varsity in the dual meet in the relay, setting a figure of 3:18, which was not only a coast record, but American Intercollegiate, American A. A. U., as all collegiate meets in the district are sanctioned by the A. A. U. Branch and a world record. The figure was never properly applied for as an A. A. U. mark, otherwise it would appear on the books with the same time made by the University of Pennsylvania team (Kaufmann, Lockwood, Lippincott and Meredith) April 24, 1915, and today recognized as the world record for the distance.

Just why the Stanford-California people have not listed the Stanford 3:18 as their record has never been explained. It was made on the old "fish hook" turn track at Berkeley where so many great athletes performed, the same track on which Howard Drew ran his century in 9 3-5, in 1914. The track has since been eliminated.

It is interesting to note that the Los Angeles High school has proved itself one of the greatest relay running teams of the nation's schools. Three national scholastic records are held by this school, though only one of them, the one mile, four men, is officially credited to the team. This one mile record was made in 1910 and the time of 3:27 1-5 has never been equaled by a scholastic relay team.

Last year, 1920, the same school broke the 880-yard four man relay with new time of 1:30 3-5, eliminating the former record of 1:32 2-5, held by the Lewis institute and made at Northwestern university track, Chicago, May 23, 1903. The other Los Angeles record is 45 2-5 for the 440-yard four man relay, also made in 1920. This displaces the former mark of 46 4-5 by University high at Chicago June 11, 1910.

That these two records, together with the Stanford 3:18 are not officially listed and both show negligence on the part of officials in not having official sheets made out for recognition of the records.

Jewelry Samples Are Stolen; Loss $10,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Jewelry samples valued at $10,000 were stolen from an automobile driven by Eugene Barrica, salesman for Hackman & Karp, at Salinas, according to a telegram received by the firm this afternoon. Barrica reported the sample cases were taken while he was making room reservations at a hotel.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

In figuring the probable outcome of the University of California-Washington and Jefferson East-West football game to be held at Pasadena on New Year's Day, the Californians are laying big store on the following comparative score:

University of Calif. 72, Univ. of Wash. 3.

Penn. State 21, Univ. of Wash. 7.

Eastern football critics have generally rated Penn. State as being as good, if not better than Washington and Jefferson. That this deduction is fairly correct may again be based on the comparative scores of games in which W. & J. and Penn. State have faced the same opponents, thus

W. & J. 14, Lehigh 7.
W. & J. 14, Carnegie Tech. 0.
Penn. 28, Lehigh 7.
Penn. 20, Carnegie Tech. 7.

While the scores made by Penn. State are just a trifle more impressive than those made by Washington and Jefferson, it must be taken into consideration that Penn. State met up with the teams later in the season when their football machine was working under better headway and with greater team work.

Thus, as far as relative scores are concerned, and we are forced to confess they have failed so utterly so often that small dependence can be placed in them, the University of California is approximately 50 points better than Washington and Jefferson, and this is the basis on which more than one adherent of the Bears is calculating.

Personally we are not so prone to give too much credit to comparative scores as an exact basis of deduction. There is too much of the human equation and mental psychology to be taken into consideration. It is not likely that either the University of California or the Washington and Jefferson teams will approach the condition they were in during their best in mid football season.

The way in which the writer looks at the contest makes for a victory for the University of California. I believe that the University of California, this season, has a team that can wrench victory from any team in the country, barring none. What the margin of California's victory over W. and J. will be is a horse of another color. The psychology of the game is an element on which no one can accurately figure. On a guess we would say that a score anywhere from 18 to 35 points is possible with the Californians on the long end. Under the circumstances it is needless to say that I am figuring merely on how big a score California can run up.

W. and J is going to play under a handicap. Just at the moment her men are practicing on a field which is covered with snow. This does not make for good practice conditions. Also they will come out of this cold country into a semi-tropical climate, such as obtains at Pasadena, and they are going to lose some more efficiency through this fact.

Tonnage of American Merchant Ships Grow

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22.—The gross tonnage of the American merchant marine increased 17 per cent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, the commissioner of navigation stated in his annual report to the Secretary of Commerce. On June 30, 1921, the merchant marine comprised 28,012 vessels with 18,282,136 gross tons. The increase in tonnage during the year was 1,198,114 gross tons.

Of the vessels in service June 30, the report states, 5,951 were in the foreign trade; 21,478 were in the coasting trade and 583 were engaged in fishing. The tonnage of vessels registered for foreign trade is almost eleven times larger than in 1914.

During the fiscal year 1361 vessels were built, 380 vessels were lost and 212 vessels were sold to alien flags.

Girl Students Prefer Men Teachers, Seems Explanation of Rejection Noted Instructor

Dr Aristine Munn-Recht

Marie Bashkirtseff at the age of 13.

By MARGERY REX
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK—Mlle. Angela de La Salle, talented woman painter, will not be allowed to occupy the professor's chair to which she was appointed by the Paris National School of Decorative Art.

The young women whom she was chosen to teach declared they would have none of her. They announced they would quit if a woman teacher were put over them. Authorities of the school were compelled to give the position to a man.

Will it always be like this? Will women forever wish to receive instruction, advice and service from men rather than from their own sex? Why had this situation come about in Paris?

"Because"—the time-honored feminine answer fits this contingency as well as it has silenced many other questions.

And, "because they are women," they have done this, is the solution advanced by Dr. Aristine P. Munn-Recht, dean of women of New York university.

"Women go to men doctors for the same reason," said Dr. Munn-Recht. "It is not necessarily that they think their own sex incapable of teaching or advising them, but they prefer to receive the assistance from one of the opposite sex.

"Sex attraction draws them in this way. Women find distinctly pleasureable the experience of being taught or aided by men.

"It is the everlasting attraction of the sexes.

"Women like to make impressions on others. They must go to the opposite sex to do this, since they are able to make little impression on each other.

"Seldom do girls bring bouquets, either real or figurative, to a woman instructor. It is the men who are sought out for little after-class talks, for little moments of confidence in the private office, where the feminine student brings along a book or a flower for the man she has chosen to teach her.

"Yet women teach the same subjects, and equally as well.

"But they are avoided by women; they have not, of course, the sex attraction for them that male instructors have.

"Once I was taking admissions into the university along with a young man instructor. All the girls wanted to be entered by the man. They came to me reluctantly.

"Women always will do this sort of thing just because they are women.

"I remember in connection with the College of Arts and Sciences—it must have been ten years ago—that there was a man who taught color harmony. The girls simply fell all over him and themselves. He had a following that was simply enormous. He dressed well."

A famous example of an art student who cared deeply for the opinions of men, scorning her own sex as "hateful creatures," was Marie Bashkirtseff, the beautiful Russian girl, whose "journal" caused a sensation. Of course, that was long before Margot Asquith's day at self-revelation.

Bashkirtseff, who came from Russia to Paris with her family when but a very young girl, displayed remarkable talent. She studied in Paris at the famous Julien school and also with Tony Robert-Fleury. Later on she conceived a great attachment for Bastien-Lapage. She made great efforts to please these men and win their approval in everything she undertook.

"I am going to a ball tonight," she wrote in her "journal." It is to please Julien. He says I am getting poky: that I am pale and that hideous wrinkles are growing on my forehead."

Imagine the reception the impetuous Russian girl would give such comment if it came from a woman instructor!

"What hateful creatures women are in their intercourse with each other," she jotted down later on. Her journal is full of episodes relating to quarrels among the girl students in the ateliers and their vying for the good will and friendship of the teachers.

"Would you believe it," she wrote in jubilant spirit, "my painting has been pronounced good, and by no less a critic than Tony Robert-Fleury!"

Betty Ross Clark Is Headliner for T. D. & L. Program

That well known favorite of the screen, Betty Ross Clark, is to be the headliner on the vaudeville road show coming to the T. D. & L. theatre tomorrow and Saturday. As a holiday offering, nothing could be more appropriate than the sketch which Miss Ross and her company appear in. This little playlet is to tour one of the large circuits after the first of the year.

The Keystone Trio, provokers of mirth and melody, entertain in a manner quite different from most. One member will be seen as a Chinese laundryman, another as a colored bricklayer, while the third has a comedy make-up all his own.

Just to show that it is possible to do many things and do them all well, Jemery Seaman, "the piano phiend," has made his act unusual. Another act full of mirth is offered by Harvey and Lewis, two of the funniest fellows in vaudeville. Each is a clever musician.

Ethel Clayton, the favorite of the screen, will be seen in her newest picture, "Wealth" in addition to the vaudeville.

Thomas Meighan's Picture Is Pleasing T. D. & L. Patrons

Reports from Ralph Allan, manager of the T. D. & L. theatre, are to the effect that Thomas Meighan's latest starring picture, "A Prince There Was," which opened at that theatre last night, was received by patrons of the house with enthusiasm. It is one of Meighan's best and met with instant favor. This film player has been aptly termed the "good luck" star, for all of his vehicles have proved fortunate investments for exhibitors. This is principally due to Meighan's popularity, his talen as an actor and his many personal qualities which evidence themselves in every screen character he essays.

Today is the last time the picture will be shown. Olsene, organist, whose "Narcissus" solo number received great applause at yesterday's performance, will repeat the number today.

Retail Druggists Save People Many Millions

Retail druggists of the United States have saved the common people approximately $15,000,000 annually by their work in having war taxes taken off of patent medicines, ice cream sodas, etc., after a strenuout fight in both the house and senate which was almost lost, according to C.E. Stuart of the Glendale Pharmacy at Glendale avenue and Broadway.

"Personally, I sent telegrams to our representatives protesting the continuance of such taxation and every other druggist did the same. As a result we performed a great service for the common people who patronize our stores."

Marse Henry Writes '30'
Charge it Up to the Rain
Every Aid Given Shoppers
Put City on Cash Basis

By Gil A. Cowan

NEWSPAPER men throughout the nation today will mourn the death of Henry Watterson, Marse Henry, if you please, of Courier-Journal fame at Louisville, Ky. The colonel's passing brings an end to the day of long elucidations, called editorials. He was one of the few who got them over "big" with the American public.

Others may attempt to follow in the footsteps of Colonel Watterson, but he was born for fame. When a boy at Washington, D C., he studied music and only an accident to one of his thumbs stopped his progress in that direction. Soon after he had taken up writing as a profession, he served with the confederate forces in the civil war.

His opposition to the relegated league of nations drew fire from many quarters recently, but in his wisdom he staunchly stuck by his guns the same as he had when attacked for scathingly denouncing the Germans when the world war started.

Dynamiting of jams in the Los Angeles river recalls exciting days along the Caw in Kansas, the Ohio or Illinois river. Almost any river in the middlewest, north or east could be mentioned, for where flows there a river that doesn't overflow and play hob occasionally?

However, California is having its flood season a little early and the east will wonder at such "unusual weather." With the rains of today there is every prospect that additional damage will be done and somebody in Los Angeles ventures to say that $350,000 will not replace all of the bridges, rebuild the homes and repair the highways.

Of course, nothing is said about the inconvenience caused by this storm and likely a half million dollars in ruined footwear, discolored complexions, disagreeable people, etc., should be charged to the rain.

Residents of the east, however, have that frozen smile today which thaws out into a real laugh when they land in southern California during the winter. For it is cold in Chicago and Keokuk and New York and Hartford.

Winter has set in for fair, the telegraph tattles, so let 'em smile at our rain. We'll laugh when an icicle drops from the forty-fourth floor of the Woolworth building.

Christmas shoppers will find the Glendale merchants more than ready to accommodate them this week. Open evenings, and everything. They will help you with the bundles, suggest last-minute gifts and otherwise render a personal service you will seldom find elsewhere. All they ask is your consideration in coming out to trade whether it rains or not, for shopping must be done and the sooner it is over the better for all concerned.

In a lengthy public statement the city council yesterday made clear its stand on many matters which are now the subject of discussion locally. In a word, the whole idea is ECONOMY, something very justifiable, but not requiring so much justification. Members of the council are to be commended for facing a bad situation and if they exercise the care the report indicates the city is in a fair way to getting on a cash basis.

Alice Joyce Stars In Feature Picture on Glendale Screen

"The Inner Chamber" is the featured film at the Glendale Theatre again today. Briefly, it is a mammoth production produced on a large scale with many spectacular scenes, notable among which are the famous charity bazaar, the mammoth Greek restaurant and cabaret, the musicale and the storm scenes. The latter were filmed on the Jersey coast during one of the worst storms of the season.

Alice Joyce was never seen to better advantage. The role calls for all her latent energy and emotional skill. It presents her as both the society girl and the woman of poverty. The story has an unusual twist. It is different from the average motion picture and one that is sure to appeal.

The story deals with the struggles of a young girl who is trying to earn a living to support her mother. A former employer spreads a malicious story, and the girl is forced from one position to another. He then prevents her marrying the man of her choice, and as a result she weds a jealous doctor, who has wrought a wonderful cure in her invalid mother. Her husband, enraged by the stories circulated about his wife, tries to kill her, but mistakes her image in the mirror for the girl herself. During his mad spell her husband commits suicide, and the heroine, who has learned the truth about her former lover, returns to him.

PHONE CO. CONTRIBUTES

Two ten-dollar donations to the Glendale float fund were received today, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, through Fred Deal, their local manager, sending in a check. Jerome B. Tabour personally brought his $10 to the Chamber and was more than enthused with the splendid new quarters in which the organization is housed.

Seventy-eight rounds were exchanged by two duelists in Rome recently. As neither of the duelists was hit by that time their seconds stopped the fusillade. Before rtiring from the field the two men declared themselves reconciled.
